

HOMEWORK

Write a well organized composition explaining the applications of thermodynamics in real life. In your composition, describe how the laws of thermodynamics are applied in everyday activities and technologies such as cooking, refrigeration, air conditioning, engines, power generation, and the human body. Give clear explanations and relevant examples to support your points.